

RHIWLAS GREEN ENERGY NETWORK

Unlocking Wales' green energy potential

Our non-statutory consultation is open: Tuesday 5 November to Tuesday 17 December 2024. We want to hear your views on our project to help us develop our proposal.

What are we consulting on?

- Our preferred route, and draft alignment including indicative wood pole positions for the overhead line part of the connection
- Our preferred route for the underground section of the connection
- Anything else you feel we should consider when developing our proposal for the project
- Anything else you feel has not been considered in our work to date.

How to give your feedback

We are keen to understand local views – your detailed feedback is important.

Feedback from organisations and communities is a key part of how we will refine our proposals. Your local knowledge can help us understand any potential effects and benefits that we may not have considered in our work to date, and to inform our work going forward.

Please share your thoughts on Rhiwlas GEN by completing this feedback form or visiting the project website. There, you can access more information, including an interactive map of the preferred route and draft alignment; you can zoom to specific areas and click on the route to view pole reference numbers to include in your feedback. Including pole reference numbers in your comments will help us to better understand and address your feedback when making further changes to our proposals.

Please submit your feedback to us for this consultation by 11.59pm on Tuesday 17 December 2024.

Green Generation Energy Networks Cymru Limited
(a company within the Windward Energy Group) is committed to protecting your personal information.

How will Green GEN Cymru use information we collect about you?

- To analyse your feedback to the consultation
- To produce a Pre-Application Consultation Report, based on our analysis of responses (individuals will not be identified in the Report)
- To write to you with updates about the results of the consultation and other developments if you have opted in to receive these updates
- To keep up to date records of our communications with individuals and organisations.

All the feedback we receive from this non-statutory consultation will be carefully considered as we develop our plans, alongside the findings of technical assessments and environmental surveys.

We'll then carry out detailed technical and environmental studies and plan to hold a statutory public consultation in 2025. We will publish a report summarising the feedback from this non-statutory consultation and how this has influenced our proposals.

This will support the next public consultation, when people can provide input on the detailed route alignment, including any revised locations for the wooden poles, access routes and working areas.

New electricity lines of 132kV and above are classed as a Development of National Significance (DNS) in Wales, requiring consent from Planning and Environment Decisions Wales (PEDW) and final decisions are made by the Welsh Ministers.

Once our proposals have been finalised, we will submit the application to PEDW for the Rhiwlas GEN project.
